School Board Cuts Budget; Finance Board Says More

The school committee Tuesday night voted to come part-way toward meeting the finance committee's demands for an over $7,000 cut by dropping the budget total from $189,035 to $185,500. The finance committee will, however, insist on its original recommendation that the budget be cut to around $182,000.

Much of the time of the committee was consumed by a discussion of the report of the two Taxpayers' association representatives, with some of the members emphatically denying that there was any "padding" and the member who made the original remark stating that it was done in jest and was not intended to be taken seriously. There was some feeling that the entire original budget should be adhered to, but finally on taking up the individual recommendations of the finance committee, it was decided to eliminate the following items: travel expense $150 and Bradlee school basement $3,000. The travel expense item was cut on Mr. Sanborn's statement that $110 would be sufficient instead of the committee's original $260. There was a long discussion of the Bradlee job, but it was finally voted out as an item not absolutely necessary this year. It was stated during the discussion that other basements, John Dove and Indian Ridge, were in no better condition than the Bradlee basement.

Oppose Doubling Tree Budget

Present indications point to a town meeting fight between tree warden G. Richard Abbott and the finance committee, Mr. Abbott not having agreed to cut his budget to the previous years' figures of $5,000 from the $9,900 which he is requesting this year. The finance committee emphatically disapproved the request for nearly twice the usual budget.

The budget was also studied by Taxpayers' association representative Walter Curtis, who came to the same conclusion that the finance committee reached. Mr. Abbott is also asking for an increase in the moth appropriation from $4500 to $5,000. Here the selectmen have charge, Mr. Abbott being appointed by them as moth superintendent, and they too have refused the additional request. Under the two accounts Mr. Abbott would have a salary increase of $416 annually or

Finance Committee Predicts Tax Rate Increase of $3.00

A tax rate of $31.90, nearly $3.00 higher than last year's $29 rate, is predicted by the finance committee if the expenditures recommended by it are approved by the town meeting. There is some doubt in the assessors' minds however that the rate estimate is correct, for they feel that the finance committee has not estimated on a high enough state tax assessment and has overestimated the receipts from the income tax which of course were lower last year than in 1937 when the recession came along at the end of the year.

Two other items also make it difficult to keep the rate down. Last year $30,000 was appropriated from free cash to reduce the rate nearly $2.00. On January 1 of last year town treasurer Eaton had over $70,000 available in free cash, but this year it is in the $30,000's. Accordingly, not much can be counted on from this source. Also in this year's rate will be an item of $17,273.10, voted at last fall's special town meeting.

All departments except the tree and school have complied with the committee's recommendations for cuts. In the town report the tree warden's figure will appear as $5,000, which the finance committee has approved against Mr. Abbott's $9500, and the school figure will appear as $181,328 while the committee will ask for $185,500.

The committee approves article 5, which will allow the town to use $13,150 refund from the gasoline tax for any legal purpose. This will probably be used to apply against the B. P. W. accounts.

Approved Articles

Special articles approved by the committee are: transfer for abated taxes $110.96; purchase of both Shaw property, $20,450, and Grout property, $12,000, which the committee believes "is good judgment, provided the townspeople wish a new administration building within the next five or ten years"; (the current effect on the tax levy would be only $6,450, the rest to be bonded); new police car $475; $1200 for remodeling the town house second floor and $300 for electricity for B. P. W. office move; Iron Mike $1231.53; B. P. W. dump trucks, $7500; hard-surfacing gravel roads, warrant requests $5,000, approved for $4600; W. P. A. and welfare materials, $15,000 in warrant, approved

"Marry The Boss' Daughter" Given By A. P. C. Sorority

Gladys Hill, in spite of her inconsequential role in "Marry the Boss' Daughter" given by the A. P. C. Thursday night, stole scenes even from Rosalind Stuart, who held the spotlight most of the time. Her attempts to master the art of elocution, dramatic recitations with a book balanced on her head, were natural in their affectation. Lily Vane became important as a character rather than a humorous afterthought. Estella Pitman, as Rosalind, having the longest and most difficult role, showed the instincts of a true actress. Playing the part of a chorus girl, she subtly displayed unladylike qualities peculiar to women in her "profession" and at the same time suggested the selflessness and magnanimity that were revealed at the climax as part of her true character.

The remaining characters were also well played with Mrs. Longe making a very lovely and well groomed "white lily," and Arthur Bassett, a very convincing eccentric professor.

Mary Ware, Irene Cole and Mildred Buck, who composed the stage crew, produced a set of harmonious and well-balanced charm. The detail was also well carried out except for a cactus plant which, having a very important part in several scenes, deserved to be bigger.

From a critical point of view, it seemed that too much emphasis was allowed to rest on the contrivings of the gum-chewing Rosalind when it should have leaned equally on the drama of Charles, Mary and Mr. Hall, but the latter three were somewhat restrained in their actions and consequently the weight of the plot fell on the more spontaneous acting of Mrs. Pitman.

Carolyn Rey Burtt directed and Mabel Marshall had charge of the make-up.

President Nominates Fuess For Service

John C. Fuess, son of Dr. and Mrs. Claude M. Fuess, was nominated for foreign service by President Roosevelt last Saturday. Mr. Fuess graduated from Phillips Academy in 1931, from Harvard in 1935 and received his M.A. from Harvard in 1936. He recently passed State Department examinations for the service and received his nomination with fifteen other men.

Harvard and Bates College debating teams have been secured for entertainment at the meeting of the Andover Service club which will be held in the cafeteria of the Junior-Senior High school tonight. The subject for debate will be: "Resolved, That the United States should cease to use public funds for the purpose of stimulating business," with Harvard upholding the negative and Bates the affirmative.

Members are privileged to bring guests to either the banquet or the debate. The banquet will start at 6:00, debate at 6:45 and the meeting will be over in time for the members to attend the Symphony concert.

News of Other Days

What You and Your Neighbors
Were Doing in Days Gone By

Fifty Years Ago

The birth of George Washington, 157 years ago, was a happy event for Andover schools, which are free today, including the Phillips Academy students. Banks and Post Office people have a holiday also—almost everybody except editors and printers.

The most remarkable celebration of the holiday, however, is that of Mrs. Mary B. Gould, 90 years old today, born not only on Washington's birthday, but while Washington was still living to celebrate his own.

A star of the first magnitude has been discovered by Mr. M. C. Andrews on his farm and is on exhibition at McLawlin's hardware store. It is the "White Star" potato, and weighs 1 3/4 pounds.

W. H. Greene has been obliged to kill his valuable dog. It was kicked by a cow some time since.

Twenty-five Years Ago

The grocery stores will close from 12 until 5 P. M. Monday afternoon for town meeting.

It is hoped that the town hall may be filled with the people of the town Sunday at the No-license Rally, and that a rousing vote for No-license may follow on Monday.

Washington's Birthday souvenirs were presented to each patron of the Colonial theatre by the management on Monday.

Ten Years Ago

County Commissioner Frederick M. Butler and family of Lawrence have moved into the Bartlett residence on Lowell street which was recently purchased.

While crossing Main street, Mrs. William Tammany was struck and knocked down by an automobile. She was rushed to the Lawrence General hospital where it was found that she was suffering from minor lacerations and abrasions.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Brown and family have moved to their new home at the corner of Chestnut and Avon street.

CLAN JOHNSTON

PAST CHIEFS' NIGHT

Clan Johnston honored their past chiefs at the meeting in Fraternal hall last Friday night. Robert Doble, senior past chief in attendance, presided again as chief and the remaining chairs were filled as follows: Past Chief, Hector Pattullo; Tanist, William Gordon; Chaplain, George Brown; recording secretary, James Caldwell; financial secretary, George B. Petrie; treasurer, John McGrath; senior henchman, John Elder; junior henchman, Alfred R. Harris; seneschal, Thomas W. Neil; warder, Alexander Valentine; sentinel, John Auchterlonie.

Refreshments were served by the past chiefs, and indoor baseball and carpet bowling were enjoyed.

Election of officers will be held next month.

Gives Talk On

Training School

In spite of the inclement weather, a large group of ladies gathered at Mrs. Stafford Lindsay's home last Wednesday afternoon to hear Earl J. Walton, Superintendent of the Middlesex County Training School, the largest in the state, speak on his work with the boys. The meeting was sponsored by the League of Women Voters' Study Group on "Juvenile Delinquency," of which Mrs. Lindsay is chairman.

Training schools are a part of the public school system, supported by the counties and are not reform schools nor places of punishment.

Boys are sent there only on charges of truancy. Regular class work is carried on in grade and high school work. Every boy must study one of the trades taught at the training school, which is self-sustaining. The boys who are trained in the bakery easily get work in that line when they are discharged from the school.

A system of rewards is used instead of punishment. Four H clubs are organized among the boys, and Mr. Walton, who has long been interested in Boy Scout work, has the first Training School Boy Scout Troop. A 30-piece band very successfully competes with other Training School bands. Attendance at church and Sunday School services is required.

The dormitory plan is used with a house father and mother in each building, to give as much of a family touch as possible. Mr. Walton stated that 90 percent of the boys go through life without any further difficulties with authorities.

Mr. Walton, who has been trained in sociology, has been superintendent of the Training School for ten years and his personality, mannerisms and enjoyment of his contacts with the boys made it evident Middlesex County is fortunate in having so outstanding a man as superintendent of its Training School.

In closing, Mr. Walton extended an invitation to those present to visit the school at any time, and displayed pictures of the boys engaged in various activities and recreations at the school, of which he may well be proud.

Six Grades But Only One Teacher

In its annual report the finance committee, speaking of the article which asks $500 with which to keep the North school open after September first contrary to a recent vote of the school committee, intimated that this is a school board problem. Since the article was inserted not by the board but by private citizens, the finance committee statement cannot be construed as a slap at the school committee but rather as a substantiation of the school officials' feeling that the problem is more of an educational one than a financial one.

There was very little talk in the school board meeting of the financial savings to be realized from the closing of the North school, the final decision being made because it was felt that six grades under one teacher did not allow for proper instruction of each individual grade. The plan would be to transport the children to the Shawsheen school where they would be able to receive individual instruction from teachers who spend all their time with one grade. Few people in Andover had actually realized that this noted educational town had in its confines a school where one teacher teaches six grades in one room, and that is why it is felt that at town meeting the voters will uphold the school committee's feeling that this serious defect in the Andover school system must be cleaned up.

The people in the North district are quite naturally opposed to the move, just as the people in every district where a school has been closed have been opposed in the past. It is easy to understand their feelings, and to sympathize with them. And yet for years the children of the southern section of the town have been brought in to the central schools, even the small youngsters, and there have been no complaints from any of the parents down there about it. The people do feel opposed to it now, but if human nature in the North district is like what it is in the rest of the world, it won't be long before the parents will be mighty glad that their children are securing the educational advantages afforded by the closing of a six grade under one teacher school. It's not a financial problem at all. We feel that every department should eliminate all unnecessary expenditures, but where it is as serious an educational problem as the North school presents, has presented for years, the school committee should have voted to close the school even if it had meant a greater expense to the town.

After a long experience with traffic lights, we have come to the conclusion that it would expedite traffic if cars went on red, stopped on green.

Many At Historical Society Affair

Rare old dolls from many nations attracted collectors from Andover and other communities to the open house at the Historical Society yesterday. There were French, German, English and early American dolls, some wearing their original costumes, and even one without any clothes at all. Mrs. Hockaday, who has charge of the doll hospital in Boston, told interesting histories about dolls in her collection which she has loaned to the society for the occasion. A mechanical doll that swims has enjoyed the sport in several pools in the country, amusing her onlookers by her skill in kicking and in making turns.

Of the early American dolls, the ugliest was a 200 year old hickory knot doll which had, during the course of her long lifetime, sported four different bodies, the last one having served her for about fifty years.

Costumed ladies were proud to point out the old sun dial in the pewter collection which originally hung in a window somewhere in the vicinity of Philadelphia. A set of porringers, a pair of rare communion goblets, an Israel Trask teapot and pewter plates belonging to old Andover families were included, and of special interest was a complete toy tea set owned by Georgea Stanley, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stanley of Porter road.

Placed in a conspicuous place in the Currier and Ives display room was the colorful Burning of New York Crystal Palace, greatly admired by the visitors. Life of a Fireman and Midnight Race on Mississippi were among the larger prints.

Tea and coffee were served in the dining room during the afternoon with old time 'lection cake and cookies, followed by cakes and punch in the evening.

WINTER, SPRING COMING?

An excited voice informed the Townsman Editor on the phone last Thursday, that wild geese, were flying north and spring must be close behind, but recent weather reports indicate that the geese were merely taking an excursion for the week-end and are probably hurrying back South so fast we can't even see them.

Punchard Defeats Johnson Quintets

Both the varsity and second Punchard teams won over Johnson high yesterday.

The Punchard varsity won 37-28 after a hard fought contest in which Warren Deyermond scored 18 points strongly aided by Captain Alfred White.

The Punchard seconds won 26 to 14, with Elwood Brennan and Norman Ross starring.

Punchard plays Tewksbury at Tewksbury, tomorrow evening, in the last game of the Punchard scheduled season.

Marland Village Greets Storekeeper

It's been like Old Home Week down in Marland village lately, for one of their best-liked characters has returned to their midst. Down at the foot of North Main street hill, a few steps beyond Harding street, is a little variety store, or rather a little store with a big variety. Back in 1917 a hard-working energetic young man came over from Lawrence to buy the store, and for years Bob Franz fulfilled the wants of the people of that section. Nearly every night, seven days a week, lights burned in the store as Bob put up potatoes or did other tasks around the shop. And every morning, early, he was back in the store ready to serve his people. Sixteen, seventeen, eighteen hours a day he worked—and liked it.

Hard work was a well-grounded habit with him. Today he is probably the oldest purveyor, in point of service, of Lawrence papers, for he started out as a youngster on a route the year before McKinley was shot. Up early in the morning, he went out with his papers regularly, and the early rising stayed with him. But the human system has its limits, and two years ago Bob's broke down, giving in to the heavy demands that had been made on it. Business had always been good, but he was making a monetary profit at his own expense. He liked it though, liked it even more at that time, for his hard work was giving him a return in the form of satisfaction one gets when one is able to send two sons to the Academy, and one later to M. I. T. where his record today gives his father cause for justifiable pride.

Last week Bob came back to the store, and for several days his old friends poured in to shake hands with the man who often had proved a real friend in need. Messages of felicitation came in the mail, and the telephone rang frequently. And one day a florist drove up with a large basket of flowers, embellished with a "Good Luck" ribbon and signed only "Friends," mute testimony of the high regard Bob Franz is held in by those whom he had served for so many years.

The practical benefits of frequent physical examination are best expressed in the phrase, "Go to see your doctor before he has to come and see you."

Going to see your doctor permits him to keep a constant and accurate check on your health. When he comes to see you it is usually because a neglected disorder has developed into serious sickness.

Officers Honor Chief And Mrs. Dane

Surprises aplenty, good and bad, were offered Tuesday evening at the annual banquet of the Police Relief Association. On the good side Chief and Mrs. Dane, who came feeling that it was just the usual get-together, were completely surprised when sergeant Ray Hickey presented each of them with a chest of silver dollars in honor of their silver wedding anniversary tomorrow. Mrs. Dane was also presented with a bouquet.

Half-way through the fruit course, Chief Alfred McKee of North Andover arrived with a man who in a French-Canadian dialect spoke briefly on "Les Affaires du Gendarme," but Sergeant Saunders saved the audience further interruption by telling the intruder to "get out." Meanwhile officer Carl Stevens, who didn't seem sufficiently surprised at the intrusion, finished his fruit and went on to the main course.

Sergeant Hickey served as toastmaster. The three town fathers, Messrs. Shepard, Collins, and Hardy, and Chief McKee spoke.

Officer John Deyermond and Sergeant-at-arms Saunders favored with their usual excellent vocal selections. General dancing followed, with officer and Mrs. Waldie winning the prize waltz and Burke Thornton taking the broom dance prize.

Seated at the head table were Chief and Mrs. George A. Dane; Selectman and Mrs. Howell F. Shepard, Selectman and Mrs. J. Everett Collins, Selectman and Mrs. Roy E. Hardy, Sergeant and Mrs. William R. Hickey, Chief and Mrs. Alfred McKee of North Andover, Sergeant Leonard Saunders, Miss Ruth Saunders, Robert Dobbie, Miss Dobbie.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. E. Burke Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. David M. May, John Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. James Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Stevens, Thomas Dalley, Franklin S. Obituary

F.ederic S. Boutwell

A kindly, soft-spoken gentleman was carried to his final resting-place in his beloved West Parish on Sunday afternoon. The little church in whose history Frederic Boutwell had played such an important part was thronged with friends to whom the news of his sudden passing early last Thursday morning came as a shock which was hard to believe.

Over the Andover Savings bank and beside the Memorial Hall library the American flag flew at half-mast from Thursday through Sunday. The bank building was his dream which he brought to reality over ten years ago; the library too had seen much of his kindly influence.

These were the outward signs of mourning. Bank officials from many Essex county banks, town and church dignitaries were all present at the church; not present but still with a very warm memory of a pleasant, sympathetic chat ended by a courteous wave of his right arm were the many people who came to him with their troubles during his many years as treasurer of the Savings bank.

Rev. Donald H. Savage, the new West church pastor, and Rev. Newman Matthews, pastor-emeritus with whom Mr. Boutwell had worked so hard to aid in the building up of the splendid little church, conducted the services Sunday.

The bearers were: Frank R. Petty and Arthur Jenkins, representing the Andover Savings bank; Herbert P. Carter and Herbert Merrick, from the West Parish church; and Everett Boutwell and Howard Cate, representing the family.

Acting as honorary bearers were: Frederick H. Jones and Chester W. Holland of the Andover National bank; Frank A. Buttrick and Louis S. Finger of the Andover Savings bank; and William A. Trow and Harry A. Wright of West Parish church.

PIANO PUPILS PLAY

A group of Mrs. Gertrude Pearce Paige's piano students met at her home at 53 Salem street on February 16 for their usual class lesson. Solo numbers were played by each member of the group after which written tests were given on musical terms and musicians of the present day. Valentine prizes were awarded to winners of the various tests. The orchestra held a short rehearsal, each student being given an opportunity to conduct or accompany at the piano. Refreshments were served.

Three Short Plays At Adventurers' Meeting

All members of the Adventurers, whether their membership be active, associate, or sustaining, may look forward to an evening of fun and laughter Friday. At that time three one-act plays will be presented for their entertainment.

Marjorie Edwards, whose reputation as a dramatic coach is well established in Andover, is directing the production of "Fireman, Save My Child." The cast: Myrtle Jones, Dorothy Wade; Mrs. Julia Quingle, Evelyn Oliver; Mrs. Sally Crossbury, Ruth Armitage; Archibald Quingle, Joseph Doherty; Daisy, Thisbe Grieco; Bing Barnes, Robert Maclaren; Chester Quingle, Richard Douglas; and Mary Lawson, Frances Cobb.

"Finders-Keepers" presents the following characters: Mr. Aldred, Harold Weanik; Mrs. Aldred, Eleanor Bishop; Mrs. Hampton, May Elander.

Irene Morgan, who played a leading part in the December production of "The Wind and the Rain," is directing this piece.

REBEKAH MEETING

At the regular meeting of the Rebekah Lodge last Monday night at 8:00 in Fraternal hall, bridge was enjoyed by the members and their guests. Mrs. Mary Manning, vice grand, and Mrs. Carrie Buchanan, noble grand, were on the committee.

Men's Club Has Enjoyable Banquet

President Duncan M. Bisset welcomed new members and guests at the Men's club banquet last Thursday night in the club rooms in the Musgrove building and spoke of the progress of the club from its organization by twenty-four charter members to the present membership of seventy-five. James Souter spoke on club organization in general, and the 118 present at the banquet served as sufficient proof of the success of the Men's club.

Baffling the audience by comically drawing dollar bills from oranges, Carleton B. Shulze entertained for over an hour with tricks of magic. As it was impossible for the scheduled ping-pong experts to attend, Harold Winter and James MacMackin gave an exhibition, both men being locally well known for their skill with the paddle. Group singing was led by Charles Valentine with William Burbine accompanying on the piano.

Alexander Blamire and Frank R. Petty represented the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Thomas P. Dea and Frank P. Markey represented the Legion as guests of the club.

There will be a rehearsal of the end men for the minstrel show next Sunday afternoon in the club rooms at two o'clock.

OPPOSE TREE BUDGET

about a 23 percent increase. The finance committee felt that this was unwarranted, since the warden knew what the salary was when he ran for the office two years ago. The committee also objected to his giving up of the private work which is a source of income to the town. The finance committee reminded him that last year at his request the town bought a power sprayer to aid him in the private work.

The budget under the tree department has a jump of from $3116.53 to $7484 in the labor item, Mr. Abbott desiring to keep six men on his force instead of the three that former wardens had. Their salary would be staggered, two at 70 cents an hour, two at 65 cents an hour, two at 50. The tree purchase appropriation is being jumped from $39.25 to $350. Labor in the moth department would be up $430.68, with gas and oil down $293 and equipment and repairs up $166.07.

SCHOOL BUDGET CUT

Cuts suggested by the finance committee and not concurred in by the school board were: elimination of two new cadet teachers $592; small supplies for janitors $500; elimination of one of the two principals' clerks $700; miscellaneous under repairs $500; unaccounted under miscellaneous, set up as a contingency fund, $1955.

The budget was further cut $375 to take care of the closing of the North school as of September. A minor adjustment was made in the contingency fund to bring the total to $185,500.

There may be a battle on the appropriation at town meeting, with the P.T.A. council fighting for the school board's figure and the finance committee expecting support from the Taxpayers' association which has taken no action on its representatives' report as yet, but which in all probability will decide to support the finance board if it feels that the cuts can be made without impairing service.

To Oppose Cut In School Budget

The Andover Parent-Teacher Council held its regular meeting Monday evening at Punchard high school with Mrs. George Brown presiding.

Mrs. Knowles read a report relative to inter-mural sports at the high and junior high schools and said she found this part of the physical education program well developed and a great amount of interest and enthusiasm displayed by the pupils.

The new system in the physical education department whereby two practice teachers from the Boston school of Physical Education assist in this work was found to be working out very well.

The Council went on record as in favor of the school committee budget as presented by the board, and appointed a committee consisting of Mr. Harold Dunn and Mrs. L. C. Connor, to meet with the Taxpayers' association to inquire their reasons for requesting the cut in this department.

The smallest number of new voters at any pre-town-election registration series in the past few years registered in the six meetings held in the past few weeks. Slattery Class Minstrel Show Plays To Capacity Audiences Two Nights

Had Monroe Leaf been present at the Slattery class minstrel show, he would have been moved to laughter and applause as readily as were the large audiences on both Thursday and Friday nights when Isabel Maclaren as Josh, an endman, sang "Ferdinand" and minced back and forth on the stage, smelling her flowers and mimicking the shy actions of the sensitive bull who wouldn't fight. Isabel was the "peppiest" end man in the show and her clowning as she rolled a pair of great bulging eyes, was a continual source of amusement to those who watched.

Margaret Laurie showed her appreciation for the beautiful bouquet of vegetables which she received by nibbling on the carrots to the exaggerated envy of her fellow performers. Although not entirely recovered from a week's illness, Ruby Laurie displayed much of her usual vivacity.

The performance evidenced the work that had been put into its preparation by those who took part and by the committee. The solos of Marie Souter and Sadie Denholm were up to their customary standards, and the hired entertainment was very fine. Norman Leslie played several selections on the xylophone, and Anne Talere and Nancy Borgal, young dancers from Melrose, were like little dolls tapping on the stage. Mrs. Wallace accompanied the entertainers on the piano, and Mrs. James Sullivan was the pianist for the show.

Harvard Club To Meet Tomorrow

Jacob Anton De Haas, Professor of International Relationships at Harvard University, will speak at the meeting and dinner of the Harvard Club of Andover to be held Friday at 6:30 in Shawsheen Manor. G. G. Benedict, president, urges the attendance of all members as special effort has been made by him and by vice-president Irving W. Sargent and secretary-treasurer Dino G. Valz to make this meeting a "pleasant and profitable experience."

Professor de Haas' talk will be followed by moving pictures, some in color, of the 1938 Harvard Football season.

Miss Ruth Foley of Newton was bridesmaid, and John Hurley was best man for his brother. The bride wore powder blue taffeta with a short blue veil with blue accessories. The bridesmaid wore pink taffeta with a pink veil and silver accessories. The bride carried white roses and sweet peas, and the bridesmaid carried pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. After a wedding trip the couple plan to live in Andover.

Local Male Choir In Broadcast Saturday

He will have as his guests several young people from the Merrimack River Baptist Council of Youth who will assist in the program. Movie Material In Gallery Exhibit

Addison Art Gallery at Phillips Academy is featuring, until March 6, an exhibition of material used for the technicolor production of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" by Selznick International Pictures revealing the extensive research necessary before an original script can be adapted for filming.

Actual communications with the censors show how a prediction of public sentiment must be made so that a universally loved story such as Mark Twain's "Adventures of Tom Sawyer" will be accurate and true to character without becoming a "cheap Hollywood quickie." Although a censorship problem as whether Tom and his friends should be allowed to swim in the old swimming hole nude or whether they must be modestly clothed in trunks seems ridiculous, it was one which was given careful consideration before the picture was released.

Models of the church and school, the fancy dress worn by Becky and Injun Jo's wig will delight visitors of all ages, and the water color sketches for the set prove their right to be hung in a gallery.

The Josef Albers exhibition is not so readily appreciated by the casual observers as by the student of art. At first glance, there is the impression that his constructions are definitely out of focus, but this is minimized by the understanding that "design is not an end in itself but a means to an end." A promoter of the modern movement of Post-war Germany, Mr. Albers' feelings for texture, as illustrated in his Constructions in Green, in Yellow and in Light Grey, is unsurpassed as is his work in line relationship best shown in Steps. His ideas, confusing at first, are clarified by the accompanying quotation of Socrates, "I will try to speak of the beauty of shapes ... straight lines and curves and the shapes made from them."

The exhibition of the elements of design and their relationship to architecture, industrial arts and advertising as well as painting and sculpture has been extended until March 15.

The estate of Flora M. Temple has sold the seven-room house on Walnut avenue, Johnson acres, to Louis S. Finger, treasurer of the Andover Savings bank. The sale was made through the Fred E. Cheever real estate agency.
